

"Why all the Fuss About Airways and Faces?"

Fourfold increase in lower airway

Improving children's airways and converting them to nasal breathing has been the goal of John Mew since he developed the philosophy of Orthotropics®, (Growth Guidance). Once the airway and environment are normalized, he then develops the face to its potential. This seminar allows us to join with other health professionals who concur that treatment of the airway is essential. In this seminar we will focus on children; where the problem begins; and hear about encompassing treatments and solutions to solve their airway issues.
